

Golf Tournaments for a Cause

By Tess Howat

If you love to golf, why not do it for charity? Unfortunately, a number of charity tournaments have had to cancel for 2020, but plan on coming back in 2021, so look for the Miranda Real Estate and the Jack Falvo Foundation Tournaments next year. In the meantime, there are plenty of charity golf tournaments in the Capital Region still set for tee-off, some of which have been rescheduled to later dates and/or made virtual, allowing you to golf anywhere and upload your scores to be entered into competitions and raffles. Participating is a great way to show up for your community by engaging with others safely, whether outside or online, to show your support for important causes and have fun in the process!

Here's an updated list of charity golf tournaments in the Capital Region for you to attend:
